

The Nuki Smart Lock launches new push notifications

Nuki gives homeowners peace of mind with enhanced functions

Graz, 30th July 2019 – Nuki, the leading supplier of retrofit, smart access solutions in Europe is continuing to lead the way in pioneering smart lock security. As the company continues to evolve the Nuki brand, today they confirm enhanced push notifications. In addition to assigning access rights for your friends, family and helpers, you can now see who's attempted to enter your property and gain alerts about open doors with the newly updated push notifications function.

The enhanced push functionality allows you to receive a direct message to your smartphone as soon as the Nuki Smart Lock has executed an action. The Nuki creates a log entry for each action, which can be customised to your individual needs, and can also send important warnings, so if someone has entered a wrong code on the Nuki keypad, or if the batteries need changing then you'll get a message immediately.

The Nuki Smart Lock 2.0 includes Bluetooth 5 for improved range, enhanced internal processing power for speed of use, a door sensor for at-a-glance status updates on your home door, plus full Apple HomeKit compatibility. It has been specifically created to cater for the common UK oval-cylinder lock, whilst retaining Nuki's easily-installed retrofitting and integrates with existing Smart Home solutions.

The Nuki Combo 2.0 has been extensively tested by the AV-TEST Institute and successfully passed the test in all areas. The AV-Test "Tested Smart Home Product" seal confirms compliance with all safety requirements based on the current test catalogue.
