Smart, simple and secure:

Security of Nuki Smart Lock and Opener officially certified

The smart door lock from the Austrian manufacturer Nuki has been independently tested and found to be secure. Hardware and software are optimally protected

Graz (Austria) – 20/05/2021. AV-TEST GmbH, a renowned, independent research institute for IT security from Germany, certifies the security of the Nuki Smart Lock. Together with the Nuki Opener, which is available as an additional accessory, AV-TEST officially awards both devices as a “Approved Smart Home Product”.

Smart communication

For optimal performance, connection via the internet is recommended, but not mandatory, and always complies with the very highest security standards.

The Nuki Bridge, Smart Lock and Opener products communicate with each other via Bluetooth according to the latest security standards, and always using end-to-end encryption for increased protection. The Nuki App in both Android and iOS versions is also included in the security certification.

Highest data security

The data never leaves the encrypted system and all information is processed within this system. Therefore, the Nuki App can be used without having to enter any data.

As per the standard for software and hardware products, the certification is valid for one year and has been reviewed in 2021 for the fourth consecutive year since the product was launched in 2018. Nuki is constantly developing its security standards, so we are already looking forward to the next certification round in 2022.

Increased comfort

The Nuki electronic lock automatically unlocks doors when you come home and locks them again when you leave. It is mounted on the existing door lock on the inside of the entrance door - without drilling or screws - and it is invisible from the street. With the Nuki app, you can keep an eye on the status at all times and manage access authorizations with just a few clicks, e.g. for friends, family, cleaning services etc.

You can find further information as well as the detailed test results in our Nuki Blog.
